Dear Middlesex Community,

As Middlesex wraps up exams and moves into Winter Break, I wanted to take the opportunity to introduce myself to you. As I told students, faculty and staff in assembly last week, I'm honored to chair the Head of School Search Committee, and I fully recognize and appreciate the trust the community has placed in me, the Search Committee, and the full Board as we search for Middlesex's next Head.

As a member of the Class of 1983 and the parent of two Middlesex graduates, this leadership search takes on significant personal meaning to me. My family and I love Middlesex, and it's been one of my life's greatest joys to see the different ways in which the School has helped us discover our promise as individuals and as a family. The enduring legacy of Middlesex's mission extends far beyond the campus gates, and as a trustee and Chair of the Search Committee I am committed to protecting this transformational potential of the School and building upon it for future generations of Middlesex families.

The Search Committee is in the process of interviewing search consultants and will have an update to share with you in early January. Going forward, here is what you can expect from me as Committee Chair:

- Consistent, clear and concise communication.
- Opportunities to provide input and perspective throughout the process.
- A commitment to identify and consider a broad range of candidates with diverse backgrounds and experiences.
- An inclusive process that actively engages with the many voices within the community.

I look forward to partnering with you--students, faculty, staff, parents, alumni, and trustees--as we embark together on this opportunity to shepherd Middlesex forward.

Sincerely,

Jason Robart '83 P'11'13
Chair, Head of School Search Committee
